

A.A. GENERAL STUDIES

A.A. General Studies provides students with a strong general education background as well as knowledge to help them understand current and emerging computer-based technologies and to develop basic skills in information processing. This program also serves as an entry program for students who are considering admission to a baccalaureate or professional program in any South Dakota public university.

Graduates of this degree program will be expected to demonstrate their achievement of the general education objectives of the Board of Regents, to understand current and emerging computer-based technologies, and to use the basic skills of information processing.

A.A. GENERAL STUDIES

Students who earn their A.A. in General Studies can work in a wide range of careers in a variety of industries including health care, business, non-profit, finance, technology and education. Students also use the A.A. degree as a start toward completion of an undergraduate, 4-year degree.

General Studies is a flexible degree, allowing students to tailor their coursework and market themselves by earning certificates and minors, participating in internships, and by selecting the courses that will serve them the best when looking for a job or going on to earn additional degrees.

WHAT OUR STUDENTS & GRADUATES SAY

“All DSU’s degrees provide hands-on experience with technology. The ability to access the technology is invaluable.”

“Also, with the small class sizes, you really get to know the instructors and other students in the class. I really appreciate the student-to-teacher ratio. I know each of my teachers and they know me on a first-name basis. Everyone is ready and willing to help out.”
